CHICAGO. LINCOLN IN WAUREGAN. At the earnest solicitation of citizen speak on political lopies at Waukegan on this (Monday) evening. The announcement will of gourse bring logether and lof the largest crowds that Waukegan can furnish.

The fact has transpired that the Democratic file leaders have determined not to allow Mr. But make to get their nomination for Governor, for the reason that he holds a seat in the Sam Senate, which they does not have vacated. They understand that it would be extremely hazardous to expose his district to the contingencies of another election. Hence they are putting forward Thos. H. Let any of our readers take a map and they will find it on the Rapids and the Galena roads are to have a con-ference the present week, and it is to be hoped stockholders of the latter road, and that it will be so carefully discussed that when they come together in June they will be ready to take held of this new road in right good earnest, and build the line as fast as men and money can do it. We hope also that our own captalists, will be willing to do something effective towards the building of this two hundred and thirty miles, and thus secure to our city the rich trude of Pike's Penk and the Upper Missouri for all time to come. Could the money b properly assessed upon our capitalisis and busi-ness men, Chicago could afford to build half the road within the next eighteen months, and make a splendid "operation" by it, if she never received a dollar in interest or principal from the investment. Let any man study the map for ten minutes in view of the flourishing commun ties which must soon grow up in the Platte Val-ley, the untold riches of Pike's Peak, and the new State soon to be organized there, and withal, the richness and the extent of the valley of the Upper Missouri, and he will be convinced that we have not overstated the importance citizens take time to examine this important

GOOD FOR THE SPORTSHEN.—Sportsmen the Calumet, will be glad to know that a first class suburban hotel, the "Audabon House," has there been erected by G. T. Cline, Esq., of this all who can appreciate a good day's fishing or sporting. It is at Clark Station, on the Calume River, swenty miles South on the Pittsburgh A Ft. Wayne Railroad. It is now being furnished and is to be kept by Mr. Ervin Maxwell, formerly of the well known "Sagadahock House," Bath, Maine. Every Maine boy knows him, and an testify that he "can keep a hotel." The Sagadahock" was for seven years under his are—the largest and best public house in Maine.

THE CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.—Rev. Dr. Everts, pastor of the First Baptist Church, delivered a lecture on Thursday evening last, before the Prytaneum Literary Society of the Chicago University. His subject was "The character and comparative claims of the several industrial cilings of life." The lecture is very highly spoken of. The President of the Society, Mr. J. S. Mable, of Rockford, announced that another lecture is expected soon, from Rev. H. R. Green, of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of this city. An invitation has been extended to the ladies An invitation has been extended to the lad the purpose of forming a Ladies' Education So-ciety, with the special object of supplying what may from time to time be wanting in the fur-nishing of the Chicago University, and of a ding students who may be pursuing their education without adequate means.

Religious Mayyers.—The New England Congregational Church, correr of Wolcott and Indians streets, of which Rev. Mr. Wolcott is pastor, has just been repapered and repainted, and the seats in the rear have been elevated. Though more properly a chapel than a church, it makes a very pleasant andience-room, capable of seating quite a large congregation. The Church is free, but permanent seats are assigned by the Committee to any who may desire them, and a large proportion of them have been thus designated, the congregation having increased of late, and the house being new nearly filled. A committee has been raised to select a site for a new church. This may be secured, but the crection of a new church is not contemplated, we understand, immediately. The Workingmen's Free Labor Club will meet at the room of the Cameron & Lincoln Club this (Monday) evening. Let every working man be present and enrol his name as a member of the Club. The mechanics and laboring men should make this the Banner Club of Chicago. The issues involved in the approaching Presidential election are of vital import to the shoring classes, and we should organize and combine our strength that we may act in concert, and take the places that of right belong to us in the political field. Let everyone of us that lives by the sweat of our brow consider this content a personal matter, and see to it that we sake such measures as will be most effective in routing the slave power. It is but natural, that we, having a personal as well as public interest in the crash which we see coming, should warn our bankers to make such changes in their securities that they may not be awamped, and with them, the business of two Staws, when that crash comes. We care not a put for St. Louis, only that she may prosper; nor a fig for Missouri only that she may vote for the Republican nominee, and let Kansas, alone. There is room enough in this great West for Chicago and St. Louis both; and enigration enough for Illinois and Missouri. On the whole, the tone of the Charleston press, which a Washington correspondent says correctly reflects the public sentiment of that city and neighborhood, is such as to repel rather than to attract Northern visitors. For one we may remark, that we had anticipated much pleasure in making the National Convention the occasion for visiting Charleston and the Gulf; Status for the first time, taking Savannah, Mobile and New Ocleans in our proposed circuit. But the offensive and insuling tone of the Charleston press and people will have the effect to "break up" our contemplated trip—nince it is impossible, under the present circumstances, to make it minister to personal comfort or to reconcile it with a proper self-respect. He doubted whether a refusal to sign the bill could be considered as a reto. He thought that four-fifths of the people of the State, if asked to go to the or ils to-morrow, would rote for the bill, and therefore the Governor had trampled upon the rights of the citizens and violated their will. In preference to such modern heroes as Stewart, be would have the ancient Nero to rule over him.

Mr. Riley then spoke of the effect which the Governor's action would have upon the people of the State, a mejority of whom had looked for-ward with the highest expectation to the com-pletion of the internal improvements of Missouri. The defeat of the bill, he said, was more calam-itous to the people than the invasion of Missouri riby an army, composed of every man in Kansas.

Mr. Kribben said the reasons assigned for the veto were not one hundreth part as weighty as could be advanced were it receasarys. Upon a careful examination of the provisions of the measure, it was well known that the friends of the bill had strengously opposed every amendment offered to it, and had forced it to its pasange in an imperfact shape, by the aid of the previous question. The bill teems with iniquities and it is only difficult to determine which of the iniquities is the greatest. It seems that the so called railroad men came here determined to pass a bill without regard to its character, and it no doing they found it necessary to hold an iron rod over the people, and attempted to hold upon the occupant of the White House of the State. He (Mr. Kribben) regarded the fact that the bill was omnations in its character, as sufficient

Another objection, not stated in the Governor's Message, was, that the bill was sectional when on a former occasion aid was granted by an omnibus measure, six roads were included. Since the passage of that set four of these six roads had become forfeited. The people of the Northwest should not be taxed for the 170 Meuntain Road running South, while the Platte County Road was left unaided altogether.

He has proven himself false to every act of his public life—false to his principles—takes to his pledge—false to the trust confided in him—false to his friends—and a withering and blighting curse will follow him wherever he may go hereafter.

We have said kind things of Governor Stewart, and have recognised in him excellent qualities of head and hear! We say more new, after having read his veto message—if an absurd jumble of words and sentences can be called a message—that he must have been tumpered with; that in the insanity produced by excessive drinking, he has been induced, by false friends, to do an act which, while it will destroy his own reputation forever, and indicts tremendous

"Well," he said, "if the Democrate Couvention should place such a man in nomination it could sink itself no lower. Who would run on such a ticket as Vice President? No partpar could be found for such a nominee. The idea of calling upon us to vote for this man reminds me of a story which I once beard a wag in my neighborhood tell. A rich and eccentric man on his death-bed, among his other bequests, left to his ugliest triend a handsome legacy of $100,000 and a revolver, upon the condition that he should take the life of the first person he met who was uglier than himself. Twenty long years rolled around before he met the man aperach him he hauled out the instrument of death, and said to him 'my friend you must die,' and then he detailed the injunctions of the will. Innuguration at Chicage.

[From the Chelmati Prebviet.]

We have just received a pamphlet containir the inauguration addresses of the Professors the Theological Seminary of the Northwest, coutains also the address of Rev. S. T. Wilso the Prasident of the Board of Directors, bein a charge to the Professors select. These pands the Theological Seminary of the Northwest. It contains also the address of Rev. S. T. Wilson, the President of the Board of Directors, being a charge to the Protessors elect. These productions, which make a pamphlet of 93 pages, are creditable to the authors and appropriate to the occasion. The pamphlet is embellished with five portraits, one of each of the Professors, and a fifth, which being placed first, one might guess from its position to be the Chanceller of the Faculty. It turns out, however, to be a like-ness of Mr. Cyras II. McCornick, the Chanceller of the Exchequer. If another picture had been added showing a baker's dozen of students, it would have pretty faily exhibited the whole affair, principles and purposes, men and young men. It has occurred to us that if all our schools of the prophets, provided their prefits would permit, contid send out in their fresh annual catalogues portraits of their Professors, the young men who know sayth ng of physiogomy or phrenology might be added in selecting a place of study. If any porsous are disposed to use this pamphlet or these portraits in the wyw shave hinted, we begieve to assure them that all these gentlemen are much better looking than these pictures represent them. Every face is depreciated. We doubt whether such caricutures can be found in anything Presbyterian, unless it be in the Prebyterian Almanic. Mr. McCornick looks as if he were disappointed over somithing; but this can hardly be so, for the Assembly accepted his generous offering and thanked him for it. That body also cleated the Professors of his choice, and they are all at their posts. Dr. Rice looks as if he had changed sentiments on alavery to no profit, but this cannot be, for he says he has not changed for thirty years. Iff. Times, in his Indian Diary, imparts the following piece of information, which will no doubt be gratefully received by those whose responsibilities, though small, are on that account none
the less burdensome:

Our friend the Thakoor also visited us, and he excused the non-appearance of his little son on the ground that he was asleep under his waterfall. I had almost omitted to mention the curious habit of the hill-people to which this phrase of the Thakoor's related. Whenever a woman wishes to put her child to sleep, she takes it to one of the numerous places for this wherever there is water. Iney consist or a shed or sheds in which there are stone troughs filled from a running stream; and from these troughs are little pipes made of reed or hollow stems from trees, which spout out water with a gentle trickling fall, under which the child's head is piaced at the distance of a few inches. The effect is almost immediate. The child closes its eyes and its mouth, and falls into a profound, sweet and healthful aleep, which endures so long as it is left under the water spouts. I have seen dozens of children thus tring, fisst saleep; and, as far as I could ascertain, no evil effects whatever can be stributed to the practice. It certainly seems an admirable preparation against colds in the head; and if a devoted mother would only make the experiment in this country, and it were found successful, alse would be a bleasing to her species in introducing such a delightful custom, pleasant to children and invaluable to parents.

How it was Forko Out.—Mr. What-you-call-him, of our place, anys his wife told frim that she had been informed that Mr. Stick-in-the-med's wife's cousin had beard how that Mrz. he still believed, what he said some time ago in the Synod of Cincinnati, that there was no call for a seminary at Chicago; while we know that he afterwards professed to feel himself called to go and help to build it. We charge all these false appearances upon the picture maker, and we advise other seminaries to cuploy a better artist if it should, at any time, seem wis to print and circulate the good looks of their Professors, after the manner of the effort at Chicago.

The German Language in our City Schools.

[Prom the Statt Zetting, March 27th.]

The Principal of the High School suggest promotion of the objects for which the High school was organized, and amongst other medifications, he recommends "s very considerable "diminution of the amount of time now de "oted to the study of the Freuch and German "languages." He says further:—

"It is very difficult, if no tetally impossible, to precent sucher: for these branche, whose knowledge of these and of the English language is such as to enable them to make the study of these transhess use, full as a dill exerce said a means of meant discipline. oken language.

"The adopting of a bird course of study in the Lat'n has gauge, as a diff exercist or the whole choost."

This result at which Mr. Dupon arrives after many fears 'observations, is not quite an unexpected one, although we must confess it fills us with sorrow. We have neverenteratined great hopes of the study of the German, which commences at too inte a period, not the High School and we are not astquished at all when we see that Mr. Dupon declares that the instruction in Comman and in Franch has applicate proved of much value in regard to its giving mental drill and cultivating the mental faculties, nor did is show great practical results. H. BURWELE, and cultivating the mental faculties, nor said and cultivating the mental faculties, nor said show great practical results.

We can well imagine that under the care of efficient masters—as for example Professor Peisner, in Schenectady, who teaches modern languages according to the principles of comparative philology—even in the few years over which the course of the High School extends, considerable results and progress might be expected. annum, such teachers cannot be procured, and furthermore it seems, certain people are not advanced cough to comprehend the high value of a thorough study of the German language and literature for the American mind, so as to appropriate sufficient sums for it.

On the other hand, Mr. Dupes seems to overcestimate the value of the study of the Latin, and he remarks, that as a means of mental drill, no other branch of study can be compared to the critical study of the Latin. We asset, however, that, taking in view the pedagogical value of she various studies, mental discipline, sharpening of the mental powers, the Greek language deserves preference to the Latin, for the study of the original is always better than that of the copies. Hoffman & Vogt, AT 75 . . LAKE STREET . . 75 of the original is always better than that of the copies.

But in America as well as in Europe the value of the dead languages is overrated. Even in Germany, where in the gymnasiums the Latin is thoroughly taught from the age of six to eighteen or twenty, there are only a few who penetrate profoundly the spirit of the classics, and who in their practical life show that they are in any way influenced by those studies and knowledge. The great mass, at the age of $0, are unable to read without difficulty Capar's Commentaries on the Gallie wars, and in the High School of Chicago Latin is only taught for the short course of three years, and even this course is not gone through by all the scholars. We believe that the German, if taught profoundly and scientifically, will be of more value not only as a means of mental drill, but also in a practical view.

It is our sincers wish, however—and petitions in this matter have been handed to the Board of Inducation—that the instruction in German be not commenced at the close of the course of the public schools, but at the beginning, in the lower classes. Several countries—as Portugal, Spain, and Italy—are insufficiently supplied, and foreign markets mostly keep firm. B.4 Wheat in Peace has been rather easier, as well as at Danzie. The other Baltic ports have been quitet without change.
